melissa's house
where hope lives

Melissa's House is a two-story brick home in downtown Columbus. Once renovated, it will provide permanent, residential housing for adults living with mental illness. In this supportive, safe environment, residents can receive treatment and enjoy a quality of life they deserve. Melissa's House residents and their families will no longer be isolated. Instead they will receive the support they need in a healing environment.

Melissa's Institute will provide programming, education and awareness to break down the stigmas and stereotypes still associated with mental illness. We will be a powerful voice for change by improving the public's understanding of mental illness and collaborating with other advocacy groups to help raise awareness.
