>>> UC Evaluators Seeking Survey Participants to Help Plan Prevention Research, Evaluation Conference

Many prevention specialists, funders, program directors and evaluators in Ohio report significant challenges when trying to get data on a population of interest. In response to these challenges, the University of Cincinnati Evaluation Services Center (UCESWC) invites prevention practitioners to participate in a brief survey on "Hard-to-Reach" populations and data. Results from the survey will be used to plan a free Extending Your Reach: Effective Strategies for Including Traditionally "Hard-to-Reach" Populations in Your Services, Evaluation and Research Workshop on May 4. The workshop is co-sponsored by OhioMHAS and UCESWC. Questions? Please contact Jerry M. Jordan, Ph.D., Research Associate at 513.556.3543 or jordanjm@ucmail.uc.edu. Click here for updates on the training.
