

Program Activities: are what the program does with the resources. Activities are processes, tools, events, technology, and actions that are an intentional part of the program implementation. These interventions are used to bring about the intended changes or results.

Outputs: are the direct products of program activities and may include types, levels and targets of services to be delivered by the program. An output is often a specific count of an amount of service provided.

Intermediate Outcomes: are specific changes in program participants' behavior, knowledge, skills, status and level of functioning and are attainable in a shorter time period.

End Outcome/Outcomes: specify a change that has occurred in the organization, communities, or systems that is significant, lasting, and as a result of the program.

Objective :

CREATING PERFORMANCE MEASURES

PROGRAM OUTPUTS

Identify the result you expect to achieve and label as output, intermediate or end outcome.
Describe how you will achieve this result
What data and instruments will you use to measure the results?
What are the targets that you expect to meet on this performance measure during the one-year grant period?
Restate the complete performance measure by combining steps 1 and 4 above. This is your performance measure.
If you have data for this performance measure from prior years, report it here.
