Crisis Stabilization & Residential Treatment

June 25, 2020 | 10-11:30 a.m.

Actions demonstrate values and priorities, and the value a community places on their behavioral health care system is often demonstrated by the strength and effectiveness of their crisis services. Residential alternatives to psychiatric hospitalization are one of the oldest and best researched components of the continuum of crisis services. In this edition of the Ohio Crisis Academy, learn how effective crisis service delivery comes through residential crisis programs and peer respite homes, as well as the critical metrics for measuring success. This session will also cover critical considerations for effective crisis service delivery during COVID-19.
